

Editorial	3
Paul Messenger explains the reasoning behind the launch of HIFICRITIC
High Quality Downloading	4
Many predict that downloading represents the future of music distribution. Malcolm Steward explains how to get full CD quality music from the web
The Trouble with Recordings (1)	6
Chris Bryant goes through 25 years of CD collecting and makes some surprising discoveries
The Trouble with Recordings (2)	7
Noted classical recording engineer Tony Faulkner lifts the lid on digital recording practices, and queries whether we're moving forward or backwards
Cable Controversies part 1	10
Martin Colloms begins the first of a multi-part investigation into the Physics and Sonics of hi-fi cables
Krell 202 pre-amplifier	14
Krell's brand new two-box Evolution-series pre-amplifier receives Martin Colloms' critical subjective and technical assessment
Top Fives: Loudspeakers	19
Loudspeakers come in all shapes, sizes - and prices. Paul Messenger picks his favourites in each of five price bands, including some alternative shapes and sizes
Solo Round Robin	23
Four different reviewers get to assess Arcam's Solo, giving you the chance to assess the reviewers!

CD player Group Test

27

Arcam DiVA CD192; Creek Classic; Naim CD5i
Three mainstream CD players from top UK brands go head-to-head in Alvin Gold's listening rooms, with full technical backup from Chris Bryant.

Alastair Robertson-Aikman

35

Ken Kessler remembers the aristocrat of British hi-fi

Quad 2805

37

Martin Colloms scrutinises this latest variation on Quad's timeless electrostatic speaker theme, and compares it with the original mid-1980s ESL-63.

The Best of Classical

44

Christopher Breunig critically examines recent classical releases from both musical and sonic perspectives

Rock, Pop and Other Nice Music

48

Music and hi-fi enthusiast Nigel Finn loves finding new musicians and quality recordings, so we've asked him to share some of his discoveries

Subjective Sounds

52

Reviving his 1970s Hi-Fi News column, Paul Messenger explains why he's just bought a new analogue FM tuner

Subscription Details

52